Queensland fruit fly is a devastating pest to the horticulture industry costing millions of dollars in damage every year. Greater knowledge and understanding of fruit and vegetable host plants and vigilant management of Queensland fruit fly will result in a more secure horticultural industry.